Anton Francis Von Zamloch

Anton Francis Von Zamloch was born January 1849 in Ratschach, Krain, Austria.<sup>1</sup> On a later census, he was listed as Slovenian.<sup>2</sup> At age fourteen, he ran away from home and joined a traveling show, where he learned the art of legerdemain.<sup>3</sup> He immigrated to America about 1865.<sup>4</sup> He was a shoemaker in Soquel, Santa Cruz, California, in the 1870s and early 1880s,<sup>5</sup> but started his forty-year magic career in 1869. He toured with his act, which grew to include three assistants and over a ton of baggage, through 1912.<sup>6</sup> He variously offered spiritualism, sleight of hand tricks, prestidigitation, illusions, card tricks, conjuring, vanishing tricks, burlesque, and humor.<sup>7</sup> Tickets to his shows cost 25 cents.

Anton offered shows in Oregon in 1874 and in Nevada in 1876.<sup>8</sup> He sued D. E. McCarty, the publisher of the Virginia Chronicle, for libel, when the newspaper printed inappropriate comments about him and his sister. The suit for $20,000 in damages was entertained in the US Circuit Court because he was a citizen of Austria.<sup>9</sup> Anton married Elizabeth "Lizzie" Marx on 8 May 1877 in San Francisco.<sup>10</sup> They had five children, four of whom they raised to adulthood. Her father owned a bakery in Napa County.<sup>11</sup>

Lizzie toured with Anton in the early years and participated as the beautiful woman he would float through the air. Anton began offering presents to attendees, including furniture, lamps, glass sets, pigs, flour, washtubs, sewing machine, chinaware, gold watch, etc. The presents valued at exactly one-third of the evening's gross receipts. In 1880, Anton made the first of four tours to Hawaii. In Honolulu, he met King David Kalakaua at the Iolani Palace and kept an autographed letter from the king and an autographed invitation card for a luau from Queen Kapiolani.

On the 1880 census, Anton was listed as a "huckster", living with his wife, daughter, and three of his wife's siblings in San Francisco, San Francisco, California. He visited Silver Reef, Washington, Utah Territory during the week between Christmas and News Years of 1881. He went to the office of the local newspaper, The Silver Reef Miner, to secure publicity for his shows. He entertained them by making three unopened quarts of whiskey and a large box of cigars vanish. The editorial staff were not amused, accused him of banditry, and nearly shot him. The incident ended with the return of the whiskey and cigars, and the paper ran an account of Anton's hoax. He kept the clipping in his scrapbook. 16

Anton was naturalized as an American citizen on 24 February 1885 in Alameda, California.<sup>17</sup> He was listed on the voter registration lists as a "conjuror" in 1886 and 1888.<sup>18</sup> He continued traveling over the next few years, with repeating shows in California<sup>19</sup>, Kansas<sup>20</sup>, Arizona<sup>21</sup>, New Mexico<sup>22</sup>, Texas,<sup>23</sup> Nevada,<sup>24</sup> and Hawaii.<sup>25</sup> On the 1900 census, he was a magician, living with his wife and four children in Oakland, Alameda, California.<sup>26</sup> He was also listed in the business directory as a magician with a residence at 1080 62nd Street in Oakland.<sup>27</sup> In 1909, he spent several months entertaining in the imperial court of Vienna, Austria.<sup>28</sup>

Anton toured Mexico in 1905-1906. He was robbed by customs agents before being allowed to take his magical contraptions into Mexico. He was surprised to find that most Mexican theaters did not have seats. Instead, it was customary for spectators to bring chairs from home or rent them from furniture stores. He found that the most effective form of advertising was to hold a street parade. He hired musicians and local boys to pass out programs along the parade route. Once, he stopped the parade in front of the governor of Sinaloa, bowed, and pulled from his top hat a green, white and red bird – the colors of the Mexican flag. The governor bowed back, and Anton waved a program which turned into a silk Mexican flag. The governor saluted, and Anton pulled from his hat cigarettes, combs, and five or six pounds of green, white and red candy, which he gave to the locals. Finally, he pulled a pint of champagne from the top-hat, which he shared with the governor.<sup>29</sup>

On the 1910 census, Anton is listed as a traveling manager for a fish company (magician has been crossed out). He was living with his wife and four children in Oakland.<sup>30</sup> In 1915, Anton retired, believing that the movies were going to kill magic.<sup>31</sup> He took up beekeeping with 50 hives.<sup>32</sup> On the 1920 census, he is living with his wife, two children and a brother-in-law in Oakland. His son Carl was listed as a professional baseball player.<sup>33</sup> The family moved to a home at 5726 Keith Avenue in Oakland.<sup>34</sup> Their single daughter Antoinette always lived with her parents.<sup>35</sup>

In August 1932, The Oakland Magic Circle of Oakland, California, held a "Zamloch Night." Anton was stricken with a heart attack a few months later, despite his seemingly excellent health for a man of his age. Before he died, he made notes on his magical experiences, from which a series of articles were
